Creating Differentiation Within The Biosimilar Category By Defining The Key Drivers Of Customer Experience

How OSG's technology helped a pharma company stand out in their first foray into an already crowded category of biosimilar products, through stakeholder understanding and position and reputation management.

Product Highlight

OSG o360 is our consumer targeting technology, built for identifying market needs through customer data. By tracking the omnichannel customer journey through structured and unstructured observations, our product can help identify jobs, outcomes, constraints, and benefits customers seek along their journey. By identifying these innovation corridors and testing, validating, and sizing them, our product can help create a continuous stream of innovations.

Executive Summary

Our customer wanted to understand the current loyalty to their brand in all categories, but especially to understand their impact on a certain biosimilar category that they hadn't marketed yet. They wanted to be accepted and perceived as a leading company for these products, so they came to OSG to analyze their corporate image, their stakeholder understanding, and their positioning in the marketplace. With OSG's technology and analytics, they could build a strategy for product and reputation management based on specific stakeholder needs, especially those currently unmet by existing products in the category.

OSG was tasked with two key objectives:

1

Understand the current loyalty to the client and to key competitors within immunology and oncology

2

Determine the drivers of stakeholders' satisfaction within biosimilars and to dimensionalize the key drivers of the customer experience

Strategy

OSG's technology platform was employed for this analysis. We conducted cross-functional workshops with the global teams to develop a list of 30+ drivers of customer experience

An online survey was conducted with over 2000 potential customers globally. The sample included patients, physicians, and payors.

Net Promoter Score across a competitive set of companies was ascertained

The analysis focused on defining the key drivers of customer experience among Promoters and Detractors

Results

This analysis has resulted in a clear action plan for the client in terms of how to move customers from detractors to passives, and passives to promoters with OSG continuing to track and monitor this progress.
